

PATENT: WHY APPLICATION IS A MUST

Not many people realize why patent applications are important. Some brilliant and creative minds are not geared towards business thinking. They may be inspired and motivated just by the creation process or the generation of ideas. Without a patent for their inventions, they are prone to be taken advantage of by people without scruples and are just on the lookout to make money regardless of who they step on. The end result may be that other people will enjoy the fruits of someone else's labor and leave the very people responsible for the ideas and creations high and dry.

Aside from protecting your ideas or inventions, patents are useful in gaining a monopoly in certain markets. You will be able to freeze your competitors out because they would not be able to use the same idea or technology without infringing on your rights. A patent is a very powerful commercial tool because a patent owner would be granted exclusive rights and no else is allowed to use it whether he uses his inventions or not.

Of course, before applying for a patent, it is important to perform a patent search. Someone may have already come up with the same idea or creation ahead of you and was granted a patent. Applying for a patent when there is already an existing one for the same creation may leave you open to troublesome and costly disputes in the future.

Not many people are knowledgeable on the processes involved in applying for a patent. Admittedly, the process may be challenging especially to people who are completely unfamiliar with it. They may get discouraged thinking that the methods are too complicated and give up on the application entirely. This shouldn't be a problem. Today, there are patent lawyers who are experts in their field. There are some who even offer free initial consultation to answer your questions and address your needs.

A reliable patent lawyer will handle everything by providing complete patenting services. All you need is to engage one and you can rest your mind for he will handle things from searching for existing similar patents, meeting all requirements, drafting and filing applications, and all other things involved. He may even offer services after a patent has been granted such as negotiation of patent royalties, licenses and even litigation if a patent infringement occurs.

Remember, your ideas and creations may be exceedingly valuable. For this reason, don't trust just anybody. Consult a trustworthy patent lawyer to ensure that you are protected in every way.
